

Modern British sterling silver thimble makers

1955 – 2026

I think it's time to showcase the skills of the modern British silversmith who has produced thimbles over the last sixty years. With a small output, by comparison with the silversmiths of yesteryear, these thimbles are largely handmade or machined in non-factory settings.

Many of the thimbles produced were made as commemoratives – for British royalty milestones – Easter or Christmas etc. None were produced in quantity, except for James Swann and Son (from Ray Coggle) (JS&S), the handpainted enamelled thimbles by Peter Swingler (PS) and Swann Thimbles (from Frank Jones) S(T) who are out of the scope of this topic – their output is simply too large to feature here. I have also ignored British enamelled thimbles unless the enamelling only forms a small embellishment.

Silversmiths are only featured here once the makers name has been established. I have unknown thimble makers identified only by initials in my archives.

They are included in the additional topic Modern British silver thimble makers still to be identified.

An invaluable source of these photos is from the original catalogues of The Thimble Guild, in Scotland (1983-2018) and Thimble Society of London (1981-2009). The information on new artists was at their fingertips at the time of their catalogues printing.

Apologies for the poor quality of many of the photos from the original catalogues.

The silversmiths are arranged in alphabetical order of their last name. Please share clearer photos to make this the worthwhile database it needs to be, to record these thimbles for posterity. I have included the place where the thimbles were created but not the assay office. Further biographical information is not as relevant to me – I'd rather the thimbles did the talking. I do think it's interesting to show photos where they are available. Further information on these silversmiths as thimblemakers is contained in my topic Makers Marks on British Thimbles.

From 1976, all assay marks must be registered every ten years. I wonder how many of the following silversmiths have needed to do this.

You won't find any Chester assay marks in this section as the Chester Assay Office closed in 1961.

As I create this topic, I am awed by the beautiful and imaginative designs. Some show the great skill and delicate touch of the silversmith – but may not have been intended to be used for sewing. Interestingly, also I note that many have the hallmarks running vertically down the thimbles. Many have plain polished surfaces, with no indentations, which makes this possible. After a while, some of the thimble designs seem so similar but the makers marks are definitely different! As in earlier times, the makers marks may not actually be those of the maker!! My aim is to list the thimbles by the hallmarked makers name – once these are identified.

It would be a wonderful search to chase as many of these makers for your sterling silver collection. ENJOY the hunt

I have already covered D I Dormon Brailsford and Kay Thetford Kendall, two modern British silversmiths, with their stand-alone topics, so they are not replicated here. Peter Swingler joined these topics in June 2017.

I know who the following three thimble makers are but have no photos of their thimbles. If you have photos, please share. Or please fill gaps where I don't have many photos – the more there are, the better.

CJB (Clifford John Barber) – PJM (Merriman Silver Ltd) - WW (Whitehill Silver & Plate)

There are now 158 modern silversmiths' thimbles illustrated here - with over 1350 different images of their thimbles – astounding! 41% of these thimbles were produced in the 1980s, the heyday of thimble-making.

The assay office is recorded when known. From 2000 all British sterling thimbles had to have 925 as part of their assay hallmark. I have added this in where known, to help where there may be no hallmark date.

I have not encountered any assay marks for British sterling silver thimbles with either a 2017 (there is now one example) nor a 2018 or 2019 mark. Now there are thimbles being created in 2026 – see Atlas

Glamorgan Wales

This Welsh company is based in Glamorgan, south Wales. They marketed their Easter and Christmas thimbles thru The Heritage Collection based in Bristol, for distribution in the UK, USA, Australia and South Africa etc

There is a set of British national floral emblems created in 1978

The 1975-1978 thimbles were cast – the later issues (1980-1984) were die-formed and feel less substantial
Other makers marks encountered on the later thimbles are AC, COG and B-L, but these makers marks are yet to be identified. Their output includes 9ct gold examples and gold-plated silver

Susannah Mary (Molly) Challoner (SMC)

Newcastle

Molly Challoner (1901-1990) was a Newcastle born and based jeweller and silversmith working from her family home 15 Framlington Place, Newcastle. She exhibited jewellery and silver at both the 1926 and 1928 Arts and Crafts Society Exhibitions. Her work was exhibited in 1994 at a Brighton University exhibition Women Designing: Redefining Design in Britain Between the Wars. These same pieces are in the collection of the Goldsmith Hall. She registered her SMC mark at the London assay office in 1923 and appears to have stopped working at the advent of the second world war, when she became a nurse and occupational therapist. After 1945 she contributed academically to the growing profession of occupational therapy.

Stephen J Rose (SJR)

London

John and Arthur Rose first registered their mark at the Birmingham assay office in 1932. John Rose was incorporated into SJ Rose and Sons of London in 1972 this maker has distinctively-shaped thimbles – most have a recognisable engine-turned stippled or brushed finish with bright-cut patterning. I have included all examples as each has a slightly different finish - many examples have the hallmarks upside-down, which would be facing the sewer when used on the finger. Sizing 4-6 (15.5mm-17mm)

Some of these size marks are lettered up in the apex

There is a Provisional Patent No 53211 on some of SJR's early thimbles. What was being patented?

David's thimbles were also available thru The Thimble Guild in Scotland during 2001-2004. Some of the thimble names are from their catalogues the set of 32 dated between 1993-2000 has semi-precious stones in the apex and plain polished sides the set depicts the last eight years of British hallmarking as EEC pre-1999 regulations where compliance saw many of the British hallmarks disappear. Shows the assay marks of the four major assay offices. 100 sets each thimble has the hallmark year, the assay office mark, the standard mark (lion passant) and the maker's mark, as part of the design made by various thimblemakers for sale to members of the TSL. These commissions provided an outlet for British thimblemakers over the period of 1981-2009. TSL should be congratulated on the huge number of thimbles they commissioned over a nearly 30-year period the makers' names were rarely revealed to members especially in the early days, tho JS&S were commissioned for many of the TSL commemoratives. I will move (or remove) them from here once the maker's marks have been identified (other than JS&S who was too prolific a thimble maker to feature in this topic)

Thimble Society of London (TSL)

Whitby

Kells Gold and Silversmiths was formed in 1989 on the Island of Mull. Ralph Weston designed a range of Celtic jewellery inspired by the beautiful islands of the Inner Hebrides and the illuminated manuscripts from the Book of Kells. He set the wonderful gems of these islands in his own exquisite pieces of jewellery. He trained and worked in Sheffield and Derbyshire, where he set the unique stone of the area, Blue John and having connections in Yorkshire, hand-cut and set, Whitby jet, supplying many shops in Whitby. Ralph Weston Designs are now based in Eyam Derbyshire

Many of his thimbles are not assayed – simply marked SILVER
