

Thimble and needlework tool books

I was often asked about thimble and needlework tool books: which ones to buy them.
Being a librarian and being passionate about books, it was easy for me.

Most of the books listed below are out of print, so you will have to look for those that interest you thru the second-hand market. Where I know the books are still in print, I have listed them as such, with an address or email link where one is known and the ISBN.

I was a member of Thimble Collectors International (TCI) between 1986 and 2019 and as part of their annual membership, up to 2002, one received a booklet published by their Grants Committee.

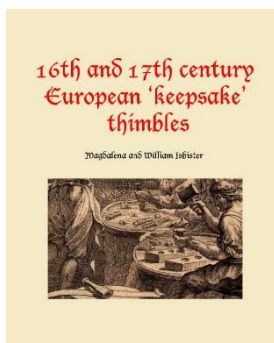

The ideal book has to have a good balance between photographs/illustrations and the text. In my opinion tho, one can never under-estimate the value of photographs as this is the link when you have an unidentified thimble - once you have found a matching photo you can then chase further information! Price guides are useful as a guide, but they date the book so quickly.

Auction catalogues have become collectable in their own right, as well as being the benchmark in prices. There were accompanying coloured advertising postcards for most of these catalogues in the 1990s. It is a while now since paper copies of auction catalogues have been produced - all are now produced electronically.

I have opted not to include the published prices as these vary so from country to country.  indicates that the original published price was in excess of AU$100.

Books about Thimbles

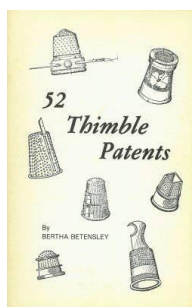

Listed in alphabetical order by title

Magdalena & William Isbister

16th and 17th century European 'keepsake' thimbles (2015)

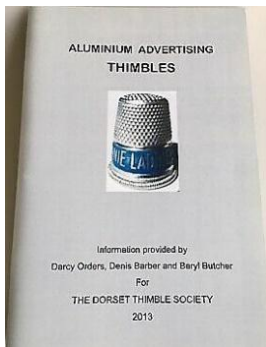

The art and/or craft of thimble making arguably reached its zenith in the 16th and 17th centuries. Silversmiths and porcelain manufactures were experimenting with new techniques and the results were keepsake thimbles of unarguable beauty. This book contains a series of papers researched and written about 16th and 17th century keepsake thimbles and their makers.

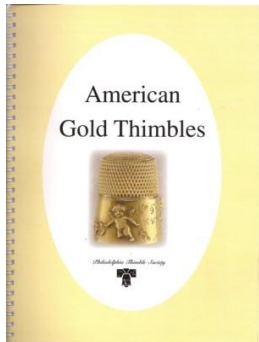

Bertha Betensley

52 thimble patents (1980)

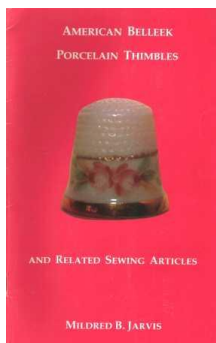

Privately published, this is a very useful booklet on thimble patents includes the patent drawings and descriptions. Arranged alphabetically by the patentee.

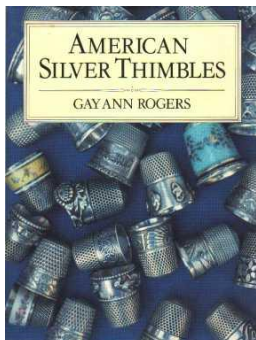

Darcy Orders, Denis Barber and Beryl Butcher
Aluminium advertising thimbles information collected by ... for Dorset Thimble Society (2013)
 List of aluminium slogans on thimbles arranged alphabetically

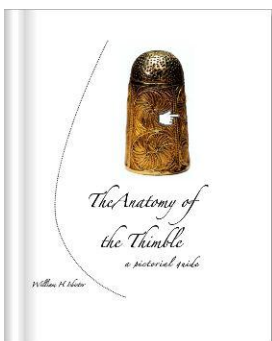

Philadelphia Thimble Society
American gold thimbles (2009)
 This long-awaited publication won't disappoint those looking for the gold thimble makers on the USA!! In full colour.

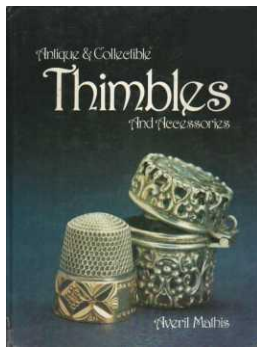

Mildred B. Jarvis
American Belleek porcelain thimbles and related sewing articles (1991)
 From TCI. This booklet is aimed at the American market as these thimbles are rarely seen outside American collections.

Gay Ann Rogers
American silver thimbles (1989)
 This is the bible for American silver thimbles. There is a wealth of information as well as many clear black and white (which is perfect for silver thimbles) photographs, with succinct descriptions. There is a separate price-guide, which was available from the author.
 ISBN 1869812034

William H Isbister
The anatomy of the thimble (2015)
 This book describes in detail both the structure and the materials that make up the simple thimble. The various anatomical parts are described and illustrated in detail. It is the first book of this kind which addresses the anatomy of the thimble in such detail. Copious photographs.

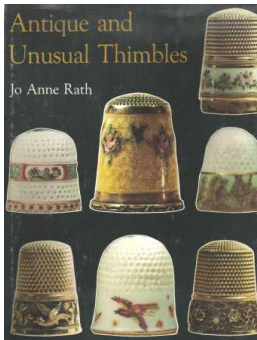

Averil Mathis

Antique & collectible thimbles and accessories (1991)

The beauty about Mathis' book, is the large clear black and white photos, which includes a section on thimble holders. The text is minimal; there is a 1991 price guide in US$.

ISBN 0891453229

Jo Anne Rath

Antique and unusual thimbles (1979)

A general guide with mainly black and white photos, with good descriptions; predominantly US silver thimbles.

Rath Shepherd died in 2017.

ISBN 0498020657

John J. von Hoelle

Benjamin Halstead: America's first thimble manufacturer (1985)

This is one of a series of booklets on the American thimble makers, privately published by von Hoelle.

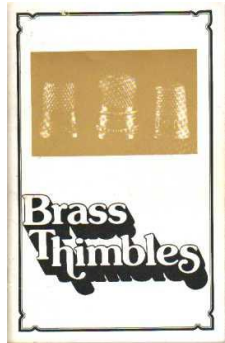

Myrtle Lundquist

The book of a thousand thimbles (1970)

This book caused great excitement on its publication as it was the first book published specifically for thimble collectors. After 30 years it has not stood the test of time with the quality of photos.

Lundquist died in 1985.

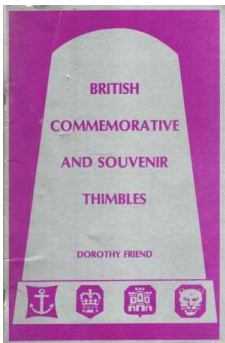

ISBN 0870690086

Christina Bertrand

Brass thimbles (1986)

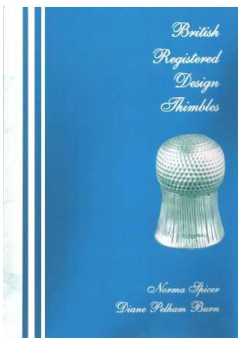

From TCI. Tho it is 16 years since this was published, this booklet is still of use as it is the only one to concentrate on brass thimbles. It would be great if Christina could be persuaded to update this to cater for the collectors who specialise in brass thimbles.

Dorothy Friend

British commemorative and souvenir thimbles (1987)

From TCI. As the title suggests, this has a wider audience than the US where the booklet was published. Concentrates on the pre-1900 thimbles, with black and white photos.

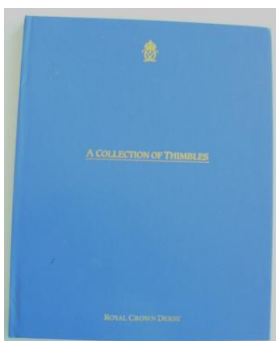

Norma Spicer & Diane Pelham Burn

British registered design thimbles (2003)

Clear photos with text of 30 British mainly silver thimbles that have registered designs.

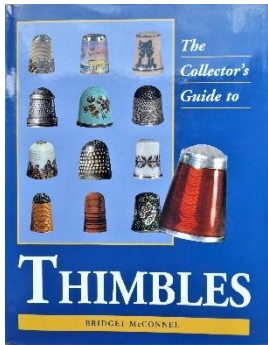

Pelham Burn died in 2012.

Royal Crown Derby

A collection of thimbles (1986)

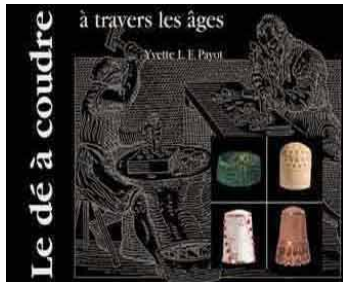

This book was issued to accompany the set of 15 thimbles issued by Royal Crown Derby. Black and white illustrations.

Bridget McConnel

Le dé à coudre á travers les âges (2005)

Michel Painsonneau

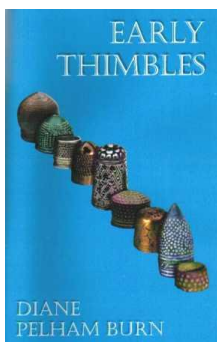

Le dé à coudre en France. (Tome 1er) De l'origine au XVIe siècle (2013)

Lucile Bloomquist, Merle and Paul Sauvé

A dictionary for collectors (1992)

From TCI. Useful, tiny booklet of terms for thimble parts, materials, thimble makers and decorations.

Diane Pelham Burn

Early thimbles (2001)

From TCI. Di covers thimbles of the period where they were made by hand, in a scholarly way. A must for collectors of thimbles of this era. Full colour photographs for easier identification; arranged by the European country of origin.

Pelham Burn died in 2012.

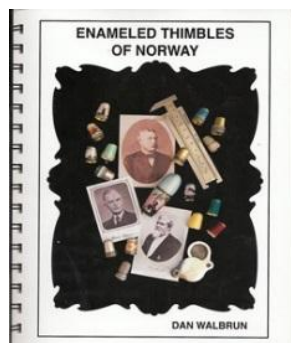

Cecile Dreesmann

Een vingerhoedje... A thimble full... Dreams, vol 3 (1983)

A bilingual - Dutch and English - small book on thimble collecting in general with clear photos and matching text.

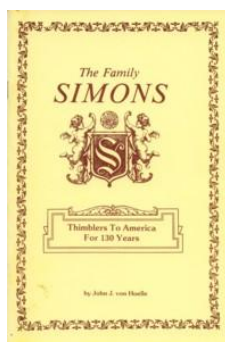

ISBN 9066550112

Dan Walbrun

Enameled thimbles of Norway (2012)

This is the latest booklet from Thimble Collectors International and it is lavishly illustrated with these glorious thimbles.

John J. von Hoelle

The family Simons: thimblers to America for 130 years (1985)

Another in the series of booklets privately published by von Hoelle on the largest of the American thimble makers. Based on the early records of the late Elizabeth Galbraith Sickels.

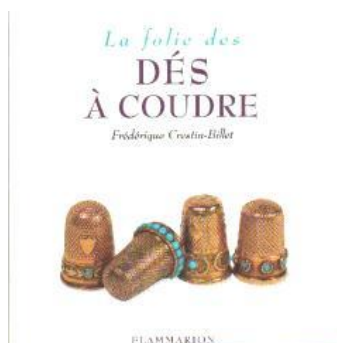

Franz Groiss

Fingerhut-fabrik Gebrüder Gabler Schorndorf (Warttbg.), gegründet 1825.

(vol 1) Fingerhüte in Gold, Silber und unedlen Metallen

(vol 2) Preisliste (1990)

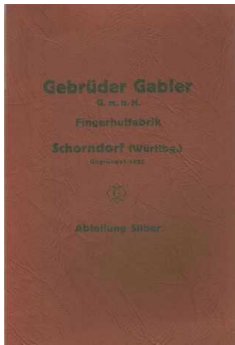

Frederique Crestin-Billet

La folie des dés à coudre (2003)

Clear colour photographs; brief French text. No maker's marks.

ISBN 2082008894

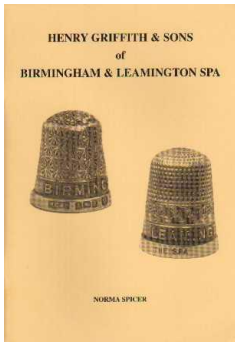

Paul H. Jungbludt

Gebrüder Gabler G.m.b.H. Fingerhutfabrik (cover title)

(1988)

There is little information about Gabler and this booklet goes a long way to remedy this gap. The illustrations are from 1930 Gabler catalogues. The introduction is in English and German - the catalogue of thimbles is only in German.

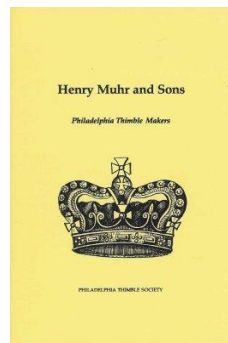

ISBN 3992031862

Norma Spicer

Henry Griffith & Sons of Birmingham & Leamington Spa
(1999)

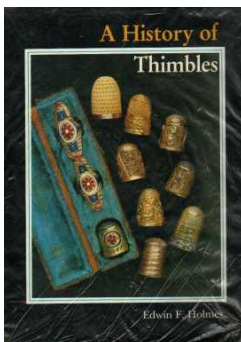

Norma's name is synonymous with the Victorian thimble silversmiths. This is the first of four titles and there is a neat balance about the life of Griffith and his thimbles.

Philadelphia Thimble Society

Henry Muhr and Sons: Philadelphia thimble makers
(1985)

Many black and white pictures of the different styles and patterns in this slim booklet.

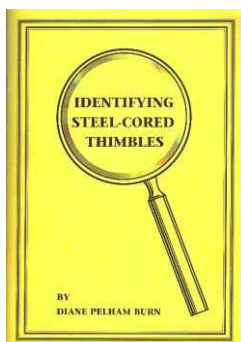

Edwin J. Holmes

A History of thimbles (1985)

In my opinion this is the most authoritative book on thimbles ever written. It succeeds his first book of 1976 entitled 'Thimbles' (German title Fingerhüte). If I am looking for detailed, scholarly and accurate information, it is usually to be found in Holmes. The photos are mainly in black and white throughout the text. Arranged by what the thimbles are made of. It was supplemented by issues 1-20 of Thimble Notes & Queries, which Holmes published quarterly between 1988 and 1993, available to 200 subscribers worldwide. His untimely death in 1997, robbed the world of its finest thimble scholar.

ISBN 0845347616

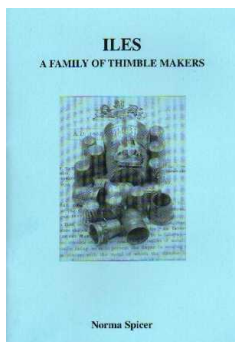

Diane Pelham Burn

Identifying steel-cored thimbles (1993)

Published by the Dorset Thimble Society. A Supplement was published in 1997. This is an invaluable booklet for collectors of Dorcas thimbles as there are illustrations throughout.

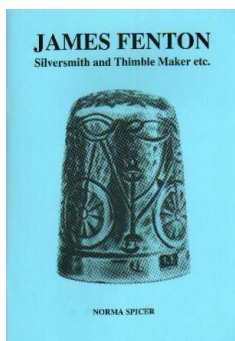

Pelham Burn died in 2012.

Norma Spicer

Iles: a family of thimble makers (2001)

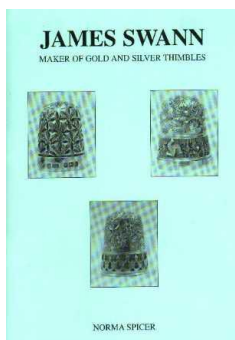

The final booklet in Norma's quartet of British thimble makers. As silver thimbles become scarcer, this booklet on Iles will open up a whole new world of collecting base metal thimbles. A good balance between history and his actual thimbles.

Norma Spicer

James Fenton: silversmith and thimble maker etc. (1995)

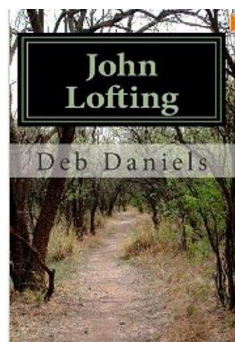

For collectors of this Victorian English silversmith's thimbles, this authoritative booklet is a must.

Norma Spicer

James Swann (& Son) makers of gold and silver thimbles 1887-present (1997)

If you'd like to know more about Swann the silversmith, as well as his thimbles, including the current makers of JS&S thimbles, this booklet is for you.

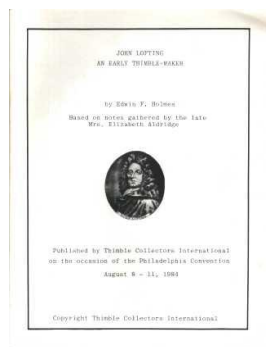

Deb Daniels

John Lofting (2012)

"It is a drama but the most important sections are factual. Especially significant in that regard is the court case of 1700 which was an early precursor to the American revolution. John may have understood the significance of the case in which he had inadvertently become embroiled, but he did not live to see the revolution".

This means the book will have little relevance to thimble collectors, tho Lofting was the "father" of British thimbles.

ISBN 13 978-1477602539

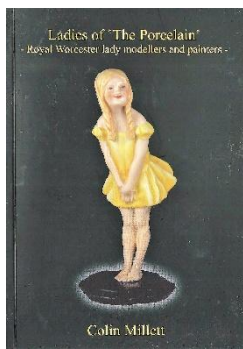

Edwin J. Holmes

John Lofting: an early thimble maker (1984)

From TCI. The booklet is based on the notes gathered by the late Mgrs. Elizabeth Aldridge. Scholarly.

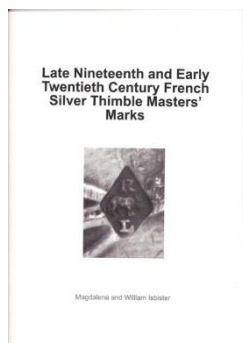

Holmes died in 1997.

Colin Millett

Ladies of 'The porcelain' – Royal Worcester lady modellers and painters (2021)

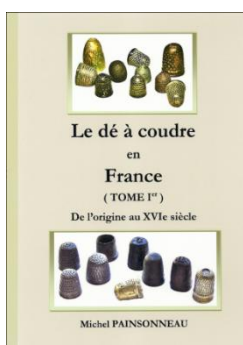

This is Colin's third booklet on Royal Worcester, all concentrating on illustrating the big pieces of RW. This volume has a small section showing thimbles painted by the lady painters.

Magdalena & William Isbister

Late nineteenth and early twentieth century French silver thimble masters' marks (2007)

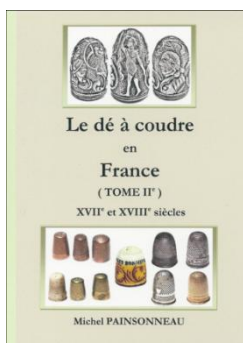

The first booklet to unravel some of the mystery surrounding French thimble makers' marks.

Michel Painsonneau

ISBN 9782954215341

Bridget McConnel

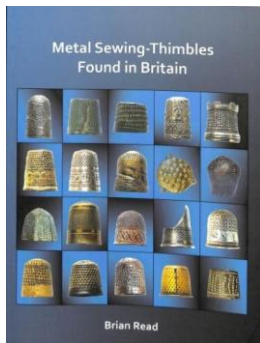

Letts guide to collecting thimbles (1991)

This is the first of McConnel's books. It is a general book on thimbles with a balance between text and photos. It has mainly colour photographs, reproducing some thimbles that appeared for sale in Thimble Society of London. Also published with the title "A Collectors Guide to Thimbles". ISBN 1852381205

Francisco Iglesias Bayarri

El Libro de los Dedales; la Colección de Josefa Bayarri (2013)

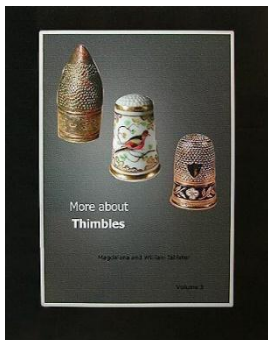

Brian Read

Metal sewing-thimbles found in Britain (2018)

Thimbles found mainly by The Society of Thames Mudlarks, who use metal detectors. There are fine hand-drawn illustrations of each thimble that are matched by the colour photographs. There are also very detailed descriptions of each thimble found: the thimbles have all been FOUND in Britain. A great proportion are thimbles made in Europe.

Eleanor Johnson

Thimbles and thimble cases. 2nd ed (1999)(Reprint with additional colour photos 2006)

Johnson's first edition first published in 1982 to English collectors, was what Lundquist's book was to American collectors - the first! This second edition came about when Shire Book had sold 100,000 copies of her first edition! This edition has introduced colour photos, retaining some of the black and white ones of the first edition. Though the thimbles are quite small, the accompanying captions are detailed, with lots of text. A general book, still excellent value for all beginners.

Johnson died in 2015.
