

Harrods thimbles

London England

Over the years, Harrods of Kensington London, have commissioned thimbles - for marketing or advertising purposes.

They form a small, neat thematic collection. Most of these thimbles were produced for Harrods in the 1980s. Which other Department store anywhere in the world, has had as many commissioned?

Of the 37 thimbles illustrated below, it is interesting to note that eight include a teddy bear – a cross-thematic collection?

None in my collection came directly from Harrods - does anyone know from which Harrods Department they were available?

Some of the thimbles have the word 'Knightsbridge' lettered under 'Harrods'. The brand name is always identical, tho the distinctive 'H' is often used in conjunction with the brand name.
